

Craig D. Young

June 19, 1958 - August 17, 2020

Watervliet-Craig D. Young, 62, entered Eternal Life Monday, August 17, 2020 at St. Peter's Hospital after a brief illness. Born in Troy, NY on June 19, 1958 he was the beloved son of Jean Connors Young and the late Donald Young.

Craig grew up in Colonie and attended Shaker High School. He had a long career in the overhead door business, eventually operating his own company. Craig enjoyed Harley-Davidsons, boating, music (especially the Blues), gambling (especially horse racing), Nascar and cards. He was known for his quick wit and one-of-a-kind personality. He will be missed by all who knew him.

Craig is survived by his mother, Jean F. Young; siblings Michael J. Waters (Christine), Timothy W. Waters (Lisa), Jeanene C. Waters (Donald Armstrong), Lauren J. Young (James J. Cooney III), Dale C. Gibbons (partner Jesse DeWane) and Russell Young (Shelly); former brother in law Daniel Gibbons; Craig also leaves behind several nieces, nephews and devoted friends.

The family would like to say a special thank you to Michael (Topper) Vosburgh, Gregg Finin, and Gene LeMoine for their support throughout his life and during his final days.

Relatives and friends are invited to visit with Craig's family Monday, August 24, 2020 3:00 pm to 6:00 pm at McVeigh Funeral Home, 208 North Allen Street, Albany, NY 12206.

Please only enter the funeral home from the rear parking lot doorway; masks and social distancing are required; and 40 visitors at a time will be allowed in the funeral home.

“ How many of us are still around that remember Craig coining the famous Dilligaf saying, "tonight it's hard liquor and handgun night at the Dilly"? Some drunken nutcase, after being tossed from the bar while Bunky was bartending, came storming back in with, I shit you not, a bow and arrow. Without missing a beat, Craig says, "you asshole, now night is tomorrow. Tonight is handgun night." This took the unfortunate stranger off guard long enough for the regulars to tackle him, throw him out the door and lock it behind him.

“ Remembering the day he walked into the bar with a sad look on his face. I asked him what had happened, he said he accidentally ran over a turtle. I asked him how it happened and he told me it just darted out in front of him. Haha, darted out....turtles and thier damn speed... Only Bunky!!! So sorry for the loss, RIP Bunky.

“ Craig (Fu Man) was a hard worker and a straight shooter. Had that side of the mouth smile that kept things at ease. No doubt he was one of a kind that would give his shirt off his back if you were in need of one. Character and principle were his strong points which the world is in much need of these days. Hope he is up there enjoying the big show because he deserves front row for sure. Rest in peace Craig, it was a long hard road and you always met the challenge. Now it's time to sit back and relax....Amen

“ Lauren, Dale and Family,
So very sorry to hear about Craig. He was always so much fun when he would come to the house and hang out with my brother Tom. Always laughing. He always made my parents laugh as well. Such a terrific guy. Never a dull moment when he was around.
Much Love, Light and Peace to all of you.

“ When we were all teenagers, still living at home with Mom, Craig was told he really needed to find a job. I remember Craig sitting at the kitchen table with the classified ads spread out in front of him. Frowning. Then he lights up. “I found my job! Here it is Lighthouse keeper. I could do that. Can't be too hard. What do you do? Hang around waiting for dark to turn the light on.” Lauren's reading over his shoulder. “Craig that's a job for a light house keeper, you know, someone who cleans. You would be terrible at that.”
Dale Gibbons - August 22, 2020 at 07:28 AM

“ One night, again teenagers, big spender Craig was treating us to pizza. We argued about what toppings, settled on pepperoni. So Craig looks up the number in the phone book, the old rotary to his ear, then someone answers, “Fanny's Pizza”. Craig looks at us like he doesn't know what to say. Then he's got it. “How do I get a pizza to come?”
