“ Mary Jane and I were friends and classmates for over 70 years. How I admired that woman! Despite her physical problems, she was always smiling, and always ready to participate in life. She held our Class of 1958 together by contacting everyone for the reunions. Mary Jane was the most athletic girl in our class, and it hurt to see her confined to her motorized scooter--but she sure could make that thing dance! I picture her now in Heaven, playing ball, running, and free at last.

“ My family lived across the street from Mary Jane when we were growing up in Corinth. My brother Dennis and I were a few years younger than Mary Jane and my sisters Kathleen and Maureen so we didn't get to play baseball or the other games with the “older” kids, but we were always on the sidelines watching and felt a part of it all. My mother belonged to the same card club as Mary Jane's mother, her Aunt Polly, and other ladies on the block. When it was my mother's turn to have the party at our house, Dennis and I would have to go up to bed earlier than usual. But we'd sneak down the stairs and listen to them talking and laughing. It was such a pure and magical time growing up on Oak Street and we were all part of a bigger family. It's wonderful having these special memories but also at times like this very sad. My thoughts and prayers are with all of you. Peace and love Mary Jane. You'll always be in our hearts.

“ It is with a hole in my heart that I write this note to the family of my lifelong friend, Mary Jane. We lived across the street from Mary Jane's family, and we started first grade in Palmer School together. We made our First Communion together. We thought we were so special, neither of us wanted to take our First Communion outfits off. So, we walked around the blocks several times and up the lane to visit her Aunt Polly; we wanted everyone to admire us. As the years passed, we played after school, climbed trees, built a tree house, sang in the church choir, participated in many church-related events through the Sodality Club, played baseball and all of the childhood games until it was time to go home to dinner. Throughout high school, we walked to and from school on most days and had a chance to discuss our social lives. After high school, our lives went their separate ways, and we would see one another at occasional reunions. She loved to talk about her family and adored her children and grandchildren. Although you will surely miss her, you have wonderful memories of your times together, and you will have peace knowing that she will suffer no more and that she will spend forever in the peace of Christ. Please accept my heartfelt condolences. Sincerely, Maureen Bogle

“ My sincerest condolences on the passing of Mary Jane. I have so many fond memories of her, as she and her brothers and I grew up two houses apart on Oak Street in Corinth. We played many games of Monopoly and pinochle, and spent many days playing hide 'n seek and Red Rover. Her dad and mom were good friends with my parents for many years. She will always be fixed in my memory as part of the Oak Street Gang, along the Bogle family. We will offer up special prayers for her.

“ It was special growing up on the third block of Oak Street. Our families all knew one another and we, as kids, played together, went to church with each other, walked together to school and stayed as long as we could out behind the convent playing softball until the bells and whistles called us home for supper. Of course, Mary Jane was a part of all of this. Then we grew up and have all gone our separate ways but do remember each other during happy and sad times and this is one of those. As MaryJane goes on this new journey we hope she will be free of pain and suffering. We extend our deepest sympathy to all and pray that you find peace and love in your memories. Sincerely, Charles and Kathleen (Bogle) Clements

“ I am so sorry for your loss - I talked on the phone with her in December and she said things were looking better. We were classmates of the Corinth class of 1958 and have very fond memories of her during that time. We attended a number of our class reunions together and had a wonderful time catching up. Despite her restrictions, she was a blast to be around - so sorry I had to miss our 60th reunion this past June. My deepest sympathy goes out to her whole family especially Erin, Cameron and their children. She was a great, great lady and will be sorely missed.
