“ *The candle burns forever for thee.
The flame thy gracious countenance to see.*

*I'll never forget your beautiful face and your beautiful brown eyes. Our friendship meant so much to me. You made me laugh. You made me cry. We had such fun at the dining table throwing cups to see if they'd go in a cup of coffee or not. Just the little things. The way you'd blow me a kiss from your door and touch your heart. I loved walking down the hall with you to my door and the way you held my hand instead of a kiss. I hope I'll see you again someday. With all my love,

“ Craig was the first resident my mother met when she entered the Teresian house...he was her table mate and immediately made her feel welcome..even if she decided to call him Joe...his fun loving sense of humor and joking personality made the transition easier.. When visiting I always liked to ask him if he was behaving and of course the answer Was always..no...why.... He was a great guy and I'm feel honored to have know him the brief two years...he always had a smile...threw a kiss and an had that impish grin....he will be missed ..

“ The news of you leaving us was hard to hear and brought me back to our teenage years! We worked together, hung out in our spare time and watched each other grow up! You are my cousin, but you were almost like another brother! I will miss you and your comic attitude! You were a mischief maker with heart and soul! I love you! Rest in peace!
