“ I just learned Eddie passed on. I knew Eddie back in PS 19 and in middle school and the first two years of high school before I moved on. He was one of the friendliest and kind-hearted pals I had back then. We spent many hours in at his drawing table in his basement working on our own superhereros and story lines. I still recall him fondly after all these years and my condolences for your loss.

“ *EDDIE O,
You made us laugh!
If you didn't laugh when you were with Ed that's because you didn't know how!!
I never met a person who could say one bad thing about you! It tells a lot about who you were! Too young my friend!

“ I knew Ed a few years ago when I worked at BTF. I didn't know him well - but he was certainly one of the friendliest people I have ever met. He will be an inspiration to me to go up to people I don't know and hold out my hand and freely give a smile. So sorry for your loss.

“ With deepest sympathies to the whole Olimpo family. I'm so pleased to say "I knew him when..." and it was before he became the adult friend, mentor, associate...and I can say the boy I met was exactly the man that is described by so many here. What a gift to have given so many people!! And what an angel he will be!!

“ I only met Ed a few years ago, but when you meet Ed, you become friends immediately. His ability to connect with people was absolutely uncanny. One of my fondest memories was the time he came down to Great Barrington to hang out with me for a night. We hit several bars and he started up a conversation with someone (usually a stunning woman) in every one of them. "You are amazing," I told him. "Nah," he said. "I'm just a nice guy." Looking back, he was, of course, exactly right. I'm glad to say I knew him, and I extend condolences to his family. He was the personification of sweetness and good will. I will miss you, my good friend.

“Jun Jun” was my one of my older brothers growing up in Albany, NY over 30+ years ago and is a big part of who I am today. We shared many memorable childhood memories in the streets of Albany, going to school at CBA, playing basketball at the JCC and “the courts”. Everytime we we able to catch-up as adults in NYC, ATL, and FL, we always picked-up where we left off. He was always looking out for me.

Though not related in blood, he and the Olimpo family treated me and my family like we were his own. He never faltered and maintained that relationship over time and distance all the way to the end. The world is a lesser place today because my brother is now gone. Blessings and fond memories from the Holy Land to the extended Olimpo family and God's peace and comfort to all.

“ God bless you my friend! I wish we had the chance to hang out more often over the last 20 years.
I remember meeting you back around 1991 I think?
We worked together on my "NY Models" Calendar in 1992 for a 93 release.
I remember we had some amazing times back in those days!
I will never forget them.
You where a great person and friend!
And a very talented artist and graphic designer!
You will be greatly missed! :(

“ The Berkshires was the smallest town I've lived in, with the oldest population, the fewest young people and I had the worst job of my career.

I also had the most friends and the best time of my life. Most of that was because of Ed. I met nearly all of my good friends in Pittsfield through Ed, some that I've remained close too, some of whom I've lost touch with.

Ed could walk into a room and talk to anyone and by the time you left, you had three new phone numbers and plans to meet up with someone who had been a stranger just moments earlier. It made him the best wingman I've had in my life.

We took trips to the bars in Albany, chased girls in Lenox, played tennis in Lee or hung out at The Home Plate in Pittsfield. He had an infectious positive energy that made every night excitement and every evening out a good time.

Everywhere we went, Ed knew somebody. I'm a better person today for saying I knew him.

I hope his passing will be a reminder that we should all live our lives a little more like Ed Olimpo. Love you Big Guy.
