ED

“Ed and I worked together for several years at the YMCA in Austin. He was a neighbor and even lived with my family for a year. My son called him 'Uncle Ed.' Ed taught him to swim, helped me refurbish a bicycle that was Tony's first, and when my son started school, he gave him a dollar for every 'A'. I vividly remember a tough patch for my son in school, when Uncle Ed looked at his report card and said: 'You owe me five bucks.'

Tony is 33 now to give that a time context.

One of the things I really enjoyed with Ed was good food. I remember several celebration dinners with him that were amazing. He was a fine cook, and loved the Thanksgiving dinners at Boca Chica.

I am a few years older than Ed, and a lot of people have come and gone in my life, but Ed was always part of it. We spoke a couple of times a year since he moved and he always sounded content and upbeat, happy with his life and with Joan. I have never had a friend like him before or since. I am so saddened by his loss.
