“ Helen and my mom Grace Marsala shared meals together at the same table at St Peters for 3 years. She would often save a trivia topic to discuss with my husband when we came to visit. My sister bought barrettes for her at Christmas as she admired the ones my sister wore. She was a nice lady and my mom enjoyed her company until she passed in 2018. Our condolences to your family❤️

“ So glad that mom and I got to visit with Helen several times last year when mom was in rehab. It was a lovely reunion to witness; they gabbed like they did when they were both much younger. They reminisced about the old neighborhood and St. Pat's, compared notes on the challenges of aging and the "not so good food" at the facility. Rest in peace, Aunt Helen.
