“ To the family of Jenn,

*May God's loving presence comfort you,
His perfect peace restore you,
and His promise of eternal life sustain you during this time of loss.*

I am one of the many physicians at NYOH that Jenn assisted through the 17 years she was with our organization. Jenn brought joy to everyone she encountered. Her work has been instrumental in the discovery of many new cancer treatments that our patients are able to access today. Her legacy lives on in the many patients she has helped through the years.

I know that there are no words that can bring you comfort during this difficult time. I pray that you'll find peace knowing that the light of her beautiful spirit lives on.

In sympathy,

*Arsyl D. De Jesus, M.D.

“ I met Jenn back when we were in our twenty’s through a mutual friend. I thought she was so cool because she was extremely fashionable and comfortable with her own sense of style. We lost touch for many years, but we were reunited when I found out that I had cancer. On the day that I found out I had cancer and on my first day at NYOH, Jenn happened to pass through the waiting room and we immediately acknowledged each other. Her warm and friendly smile, made me smile, which made a huge difference for me that day. It was so nice to see a familiar person who was genuinely interested in my well-being. From that day moving forward, Jenn made sure that I knew she was available if I needed her for anything. It was Jenn who helped me get through and resolve a bad encounter with a staff person who made me cry at NYOH. It was Jenn who brought me magazines (I shared her love for fashion and a good magazine) and groceries. It was Jenn who would pop out of her office to say a quick hello when I came to NYOH for appointments and for treatment. It was Jenn, despite the many years of no contact, who was there for me when other friends seem to disappear. I will never forget her kindness. Sending so much love to you all at this time. To her parents, please know that you raised a kind and loving woman who made a positive difference in the lives of many people.

“ On behalf of the physicians and the leadership team at NYOH, we extend our sincere condolences on this immeasurable loss. Jenn made an impact not only on her colleagues but on thousands of patients through the years she worked for NYOH. On a personal note, the very first time I met her she commented on my blazer and told me of her fashion background. Every time thereafter when I saw her, I needed to have her “check out” my outfit for her approval. She was a smile that lit up a room and our hearts break for your loss.
Sincerely,
Sabrina Mosseau Executive Director NYOH

“ Dear Family of Jen, I am Jen's neighbor and friend from George St. I am so sad for all of you and for myself. Jen was so sweet and friendly. I know how much she valued her family, she spoke frequently of her nieces and nephew. I will miss our "neighborly chats" outside and her texts to wish me a happy holiday or to just say hello. May your angel rest in peace with her kitties.
