“ My favorite memory of Aunt Mary is from September 12, 1970. That's the day my sister, Mary Christina, got married. Late that night, after the bride and groom had left for their honeymoon, and all in-laws and friends had gone home, the only people left outside in the garage were Tremblays!
I lay in my bed past 3:00 in the morning listening to Aunt Mary lead the Tremblays in (what I recall as) dirty French songs. I was sure we were keeping our new neighbors awake. But they sang and laughed for hours and hours. My fondest memory of her that I've repeated many times my whole life.
You will be greatly missed, Aunt Mary. Until we meet again...
