“ Deb, I am so sorry to hear about the loss of your dad. While I only knew him through your stories about him the last few years dealing with his Alzheimer's, I could tell your love and concern for him was very strong. My thoughts and prayers are with you and your family at this time. Doug P.

“ My sincere condolences to you and your family during this difficult time, may the words at Isaiah 25:8 bring you comfort "He will swallow up death forever, And the Sovereign Lord Jehovah will wipe away the tears from all faces"

“ There are so many great memories, my Dad and Mario working together, cracking each other and everyone else around them up. Mario and Miltie doing the "chickenshit mooning" at Aunt Pearl and Uncle George's. Our fun adventure at the condo at Lake Placid with our many colored drinks and drunken night on the town. Peace and love to him and to all of you. Louise and Lou Donato

“ Our sympathies to the entire family! Uncle Mario, as we had come to call him, was there when you needed him! He was extremely meticulous when it came to carpentry. Oh how he'd yell at me when I changed plans (mid-build) for the WAIBS Columbus Day floats! I always knew he still loved me! He will be missed. Much love. Carol and Phil Chiarella

“ I've known Mario since before I was born. A lifelong friend of my family, myself and best friend to my own Dad. When I was 4 yrs old Mario and Johnny D'Agastino (sp?) were the contractors building an addition on my parents house on Osborne Road. I was such a 'pain-in -the-a' to those guys as they worked that Mario locked me outside on the roof alone for half an hour. The impish smile on his face as I begged him to let me back in is burned into my brain forever.

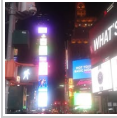

As I grew up, Mario was a fixture at my fathers Hardware store as a customer, a builder and a friend. He put several additions on our building and it was always my great privilege to work with him instead of 'working the floor' helping our customers. Even if he put me to work with a broom in my hand, I was happy to work with Mario. He was a no-nonsense man when it came to his work...and even though we all had smiles and plenty of laughs (usually at my expense) He was deadly serious when it came to getting the job done right. Which is why my Dad turned to Mario for all the important building jobs he had.

In 1994 Mario, his son Paul, my father and I worked to renovate an old house on Dott ave that would become my home for 13yrs. Even though it was difficult working with my father at times, Mario worked as the most perfect buffer between us. Knowing my father so well and myself too, he was always there to smooth over the rough spots between us. That house went up 2 stories and Mario directed me to the roof (AGAIN !!) and I spent 2 days chipping away at the old chimney block as he chided me safely from the ground with that smile and famous sense of humor. When we were done, Mario wrote 'Mario '1994" on his old painters hat and hung it on a hook in the garage. It still hangs there today. It was a great time in my life....great because I got to work with him, doing what he loved. When I opened TJ's in 1996 he was there every Friday for a big fat fish fry. He supported me in so many ways words cannot describe. He always stopped in for coffee and a chat and offered encouragement and words of wisdom to me---even in the darkest of times. Pushing me to keep going and never give up, he was the epitome of inspiration. Aside from my own father, he was the most formative personality I ever had the pleasure, privilege and honor to know.

I've known Mario since the early 1980s years ago while volunteering at the West Albany Italian Benevolent Society would speak often with him and Mario also volunteered his time at the club. One of the old guard in West Albany his generation and the ones before helped build a strong nation with community, prosperous businesses and loving family. He will be missed we need more like Mario these days! It saddens me that the old community that west Albany once was is now fading into history but at least I was just old enough to see the tail end of what once was and it was a special place and time with very good and strong people! Mario goodbye and wonderful journey!

My lifelong friend and trusted person who would always be there whenever called on for any of lifes challenges. A backbone to accomplish the many tasks that he knowingly would be able to do correctly when given the approval. There will be a great void with his loss, especially in the LEACH family
