“ To Stan's loving family,
We too are part of the Nassau "family" that dearly misses Stan. We knew something was terribly wrong when our mail wasn't delivered as usual on Monday and were shocked to hear the news, as he was so young and vibrant and full of life. I recall one holiday season as I waiting at the Post Office to mail packages that the lady in front of me had a really large box to ship. When Stan came around the corner and caught sight of it he declared "Holy Moly, Krackatoly" and we all laughed. Now we use that expression all the time and think of Stan, our happy-go-lucky mailman. Our deepest sympathy at his loss.###imported-begin##Caroline Leising and David Wolcott###imported-end##

“ We were very sad to hear the lost of our "mailman" Stan. I would run into Stan at Cumberland Farms on Saturday mornings to get my coffee. He always greeted you with a smile. We would joke about the news headlines. When I was home, he would hand me my mail, and we would chat for a minute or two and laugh. Always smiling.

Our hearts and prayers go out to his family. Stan was a very positive person who was full of life. A few years ago, I lost my younger sibling. I know how hard it is for you and all the lives that he has touched. Keep the faith, never forget and when you think of him, remember him smiling and laughing with you.

God bless you Stan. We will miss you.

“ Judy and Uncle Steve,
I am so sorry for your loss. Losing a sibling is one of the hardest things to deal with. My heart goes out to you. I know the pain that you are going through and pray that you can feel Stanley's presence. He is with your mom now and you have a new Angel to watch over you.

“ We were deeply saddened and shocked to hear of Stan's passing. We knew him as our mail carrier and he was such a pleasure to know. Stan did so much more for us than was required by his job and we very much appreciated this. We will remember him as a very cring individual.##imported-begin##Jim and Shirley Buel##imported-end##

“ Like many others in Nassau who received our mail from Stan each day, we were saddened by the unexpected news of his passing over the weekend. Whether it was a smile and wave as he drove by the house to our mailbox, or a friendly greeting as he got out of his truck to hand us our packages, Stan was always a welcomed sight.

We will miss his goodnatured personality each day as we go out to collect our mail. Our deepest condolences go out to Stand's friends and family who knew him best.##imported-begin##The McEneaneys##imported-end##

“ Dear Judy and family,
I am so sorry to hear of your loss. I know your pain, all I can say you will laugh again. Your pain will turn into the wonderful memories you shared with Stanley. When we moved into the neighborhood our brothers were good friends. I haven't seen him in a long time but I will always remember his funny personality and smile. I will keep Stanley and your family in my prayers. God Bless##imported-begin##MaryAnn (Colbert) Frany##imported-end##
