

William Wogatske

January 23, 1925 - May 13, 2010

Loudonville-William Wogatske, 85, died Thursday, May 13, 2010 at home. Born in Albany, he was the son of the late William and Mary Bashwinger Wogatske. His childhood years were in Morey Park, Nassau NY. He has lived in Loudonville for over 50 years. He was a member of the former Our Lady of Angels Church for 55 years.

Bill attended Christian Brothers Academy in Albany. He was a US Navy World War II veteran, serving on an ammunition ship in the Pacific Theatre. He retired from the Times Union in 1988. Mr. Wogatske was a member of the Joseph E. Zaloga American Legion Post, Times Union Quarter Century Club, and the Senior Bowlers at Del Lanes. He was a former member of the Knights of St. John. Bill enjoyed reading, traveling, but mostly golfing. He was a devout Yankee fan.

He was the husband of Marion Hauser Wogatske for 60 years; father of Cynthia W. George and William J. Wogatske (Susan); grandfather of Kyle B. Wogatske and Collin Jenkins; great grandfather of Samantha, Madison, Natalie and Charlotte Jenkins; several nieces and nephews survive.

“ On behalf of the entire staff at Lauren Studios, and in particular myself, I offer our sincere condolences. Your family had touched the hearts of everyone here, and a copy of your family portrait remains on our studio wall. We are saddened by the physical loss, but William will remain forever in our hearts. May God grant you and your family peace as He welcomes another soul into His Kingdom!##imported-begin##Ed Czuchrey##imported-end##
